TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

This serves to certify that Mr Roger Moss, in his capacity as Joint Managing Director of Moss Machine Tools, was directly involved in the conceptualisation, design, manufacture and supply of various manufacturing machines for a local diesel engine manufacturing factory, namely Atlantis Diesel Engines. These machines were ordered during 1982/83 and delivered and commissioned successfully during 1984.

The quality of design and manufacture of the machines was excellent and could only be matched by EX-CELL-O and Landis out of the UK (some 14 UK suppliers were used) and equalled or exceeded the quality obtainable from most German machine tool suppliers. The driving force behind these achievements was Mr Roger Moss who is considered to have exceptional technical capabilities and who never compromised on quality matters.

As project manager for this turnkey project I, the undersigned, can report that I only had the best possible service from Mr Roger Moss and his company. All machines were delivered on time, performed well within their design parameters, were finished immaculately and were functional. This was achieved in spite of fierce competition from other UK and German machine tool suppliers in a strong buyers market.

Personally I got to know Mr Moss as an honest and straightforward person who's word of honour can be trusted. Technically he is one of the most innovative persons I have met to date with the additional gift of being practical at the same time. He is, therefore, highly recommended for all situations in which good and practical solutions are sought for complicated technical problems.
